

Born in Virginia.

Doesn't miss it.

Leo, Seabrook resident since 2003

Leo's got it made. Around here, he's pretty much royalty. Seabrookers stop by the Equestrian Center to feed him and his buddies carrots on a daily basis. And the staff is constantly grooming him. Well, that is, when he's not out gallivanting along the beach. We don't know who ever said, "It's a dog's life." But they might want to rethink that one. To learn more about all of the Seabrookers, visit TheSeabrookers.com.

SEABROOK ISLAND

Welcome to the neighborhood.